2 Reason for Field Safety Corrective Action (FSCA)*
2	1. Description of the product problem*
.	Latex elastic band patient packs were labelled as containing non-latex elastic bands. Flexmedics latex elastic bands are initially packaged in patient packs with the product information on one side and the latex warning preprinted on the other side. Then, a quantity of 100 patient packs are placed in a bulk package with an additional bulk outer label. To summarize, the patient packs contained latex elastic bands but the label's description incorrectly stated non-latex instead of latex, the outer label's description was correctly printed, and the latex warning was on both forms of packaging.
2	2. Hazard giving rise to the FSCA*
.	Flexmedics does not expect any device failures instead there is an opportunity for misuse of the device due to the labelling. Due to this error, there is a potential for a patient with a latex allergy to use the patient packs containing latex elastic bands during their orthodontic treatment. This recall only involved one batch of Flexmedics elastic products.
2	3. Probability of problem arising
.	First time occurrence, probability of problem arising is remote (error percentage of 0.5% since 2021).
2	4. Predicted risk to patient/users
.	Potential patient consequences involve a patient experiencing problems ranging from mild dermatitis to anaphylactic shock due to a latex allergy.
2	5. Further information to help characterise the problem
2	6. Background on Issue
.	Flexmedics became aware of the mislabelling issue on December 13th through a customer complaint (23-12-035). To date, we have received two complaints from two different distributors: one in Europe and one in New Zealand. The complaints described the discrepancy between the patient pack's product description and the bulk label's product description. No injuries or adverse events were reported.

2	7. Other information relevant to FSCA
